After the opening ceremony our respected president Shri Pranab Roy and principal himself inaugurated the book 'Women the unsung warriors'. This is a collection of women related articles. Almost 22 research articles are there. It was a grand opening ceremony for the book. Women cell started that work under the guidance of Dr. Ruchira Chanda 1 year before. The long wait has come to an end at last. Every person who has contributed to the book got their copies at the ceremony. More than 80 students and 24 staff were present in the program. From every aspect we tried to capture the situation of women. Social, political, economical, philosophical issues were considered in the book. It will definitely help the future researchers to find and conquer new ideas.

On that auspicious occasion we inaugurated the Bengali book edited by Dr. Ruchira Chanda from the women's cell. All the delegates praised the work and the college offered each of them a book as a gift. This is a good collection of essays on women empowerment. Total 27 research articles are there. The writers are from various disciplines. Already we have published a book on the topic in English. For the second time we have tried to establish the importance of women empowerment. At the event more than 100 participants and 22 staff were present. These two books will definitely help the future researchers to find out a concrete form of writing in the concerned field.
